

Dear

Re. Provision of Lil-Lets tampons to establishments

Please be advised that to ensure consumer safety when using tampons, it is a pre-requisite of our supply that they are provided for use in their original packaging.

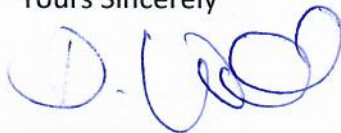

Each box is printed with essential information about the level of absorbency in relation to menstrual flow, a notice to inform the user that tampons are associated with Toxic Shock Syndrome (TSS) and advice to read and keep the instruction leaflet inside the pack. This information helps to ensure user safety and complies with UK Code of Practice for Tampon Manufacturers and Distributors <http://www.ahpma.co.uk/CodeofPracticeMay17.pdf>

There also needs to be a traceability system in place so that any orders supplied by Lil-Lets can be traced to the establishment to which they were delivered should any quality issues arise. Keeping product in the original packaging also ensures batch code traceability.

If you have any questions regarding Lil-Lets tampons, then please contact the team on either consumerrelations@lil-lets.com or call our Consumer helpline on 0845 602 0061.

Yours Sincerely

Danny Wild
General Manager