To Cheltenham's Parish Councils

Covid-19

Like many Local Authorities throughout the UK, Cheltenham Borough Council is proud to stand together with Parish Councils to play our part in shielding the vulnerable, protecting our community and supporting businesses during Covid-19.

Parish Councils along with many other community and voluntary groups have an important role to play in supporting local communities during this national emergency, which is why the Council has decided to increase its Community Resilience Fund from £80,000 to £100,000.

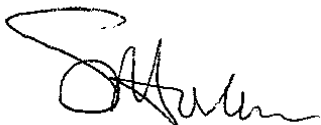

The Council encourages those parishes and community organisations that are providing Covid-19 community support to consider applying for a community resilience grant.

More information on Community Resilience Grant scheme and how to apply can be found from the Council's dedicated webpage:

Finally, we give our grateful thanks to the thousands of key workers and volunteers across health and front-line services throughout Cheltenham that have responded so selflessly to keep the borough going and to care, protect and shield us from Covid-19. We are proud to witness the strength and resilience of our town in the face of this challenge.

Yours sincerely

Cllr Steve Jordan
Leader of the Council
